NASA race -- Autoclub Speedway, May 20/21
Posted by dancing944 - 25 Apr 2017 13:16

_____

Racers:

That was some very good racing this past weekend at Buttonwillow! I'm impressed with how close the class is, how tight the racing can be, and how competitive our field is. Add the enjoyable times off track, and this is really what spec racing is all about.

I'm starting the thread about the May event in Fontana now because I would like everyone to consider not just making sure they sign up, but renting a garage. Garages are not very expensive, and it's one place where having a garage can be a big plus. They are not expensive. And I would love to see us all paddocked together again, as we have done in the past there.

Everett

==

Re: NASA race -- Autoclub Speedway, May 20/21
Posted by cbuzzetti - 15 May 2017 18:40

_____

Joey, do you want me to bring the tires? 7s Only has them. You can pick them up at BW if you want. I just need to know if I need to tell Tom to throw them in the trailer.

==

Re: NASA race -- Autoclub Speedway, May 20/21
Posted by reflexr - 15 May 2017 18:53

_____

I'll pick them up at BW then. No need for Tom to drag them down to ACS! Thanks, Charlie!!

==

Re: NASA race -- Autoclub Speedway, May 20/21
Posted by code3pro - 17 May 2017 07:58

_____

Does anyone know the rules on dogs at Auto Club?

==

Re: NASA race -- Autoclub Speedway, May 20/21
Posted by cbuzzetti - 17 May 2017 11:12

_____

Must use helmet, firesuit and harnesses when on track!

All kidding aside I know they do allow dogs there, or at least they used to.

==

Re: NASA race -- Autoclub Speedway, May 20/21
Posted by cbuzzetti - 17 May 2017 11:16

_____

Hey guys, I have a 2 full unopened 5 qt. Mobil 1 0-40 oil plus an opened container with 4 qts still in it for sale. $10 each for unopened and $5 for opened one.

I also have 1 brand new never mounted TOYO RR 225-50-15 with 3515 date code. Looking to get $100 for tire.

See you at AAA!

==