

First 944spec event at VIR

Posted by jh36 - 09 Oct 2013 01:04

Here we go! My son Edward and I are running our first 944spec race this weekend at VIR with nasa midatlantic. Been a long time coming! Our online registration shows up classed as gts1 but will be changed. There are three other spec944 drivers registered so field should be five. Weather looks good so let the fun begin!!

=====

Re: First 944spec event at VIR

Posted by tcomeau - 02 Nov 2013 05:43

That's great news about 944 Spec being represented over there. I'm glad you didn't let them stuff you into GTS or cup. Keep posting the class results and talking it up!

Tim

=====

Re: First 944spec event at VIR

Posted by jh36 - 02 Nov 2013 06:48

Will do! As a matter of fact, we are busy building another car to grow by one in the off season. Will keep you posted and thanks for the moral support!

=====

Re: First 944spec event at VIR

Posted by AgRacer - 02 Apr 2014 07:35

Posting this here since there isn't anything going on in the Mid-Atlantic forum. I already had everything loaded so I decided to do the VIR event on 22-23 March right after Road Atlanta. There was one other 944Spec car in attendance so I was just focusing on getting to know the track and got another chance at improving my rain setup (2 rain races in a row a week apart). Videos below.

Fastest dry lap of the week end was a 2:19.9. Possibly my second favorite track I've run only to COTA.

I heard there are two other 944Spec cars in the region, but they rarely come play. The one 944Spec car that did show said he might switch to GTS1 next season due to the lack of cars. Depending on where the Eastern Championships are next season, I may make Mid-Atlantic my home region since the 2 main tracks are closer.
