944-SPEC - 944SPEC - low cost wheel to wheel racing Generated: 3 November, 2025, 19:23

Shopping Posted by jaje -	List -	Where	Buy	Parts	/ Equip	oment
Posted by jaje - 2	23 Dec 20	008 23:53	,

Would like to make sure I support the Spec sponsors as I have several items I need to buy to finish my car. I see the list of sponsors and want to buy from those who help significantly.
Front / Rear Tow Hooks (what style to use - SM style tow straps, the Turbo type steel eye, or the std 944 style tow eye plate).
Steering wheel quick release (I have a cheapo Pilot steering wheel from Autozone and want to add quick release to make it easier to get in the car as I'm 6'3" and steering wheel impedes my ingress/egress).
6 Point FIA belts
Seat Sliders to work with Kirkey seat (have the side mounts on it)
4 Pole Master Switch
Window Net Kit (quick release type that doesn't use belt buckle)
Rollbar Padding
Oil Pan Gasket and Bolts / Nuts
Timing Belt Kit
Axles Bolts

944-SPEC - 944SPEC - low cost wheel to wheel racing Generated: 3 November, 2025, 19:23
Front A Arms and bushings (will get them box welded)
Hawk Blue Pads and bumper ducts and 3" ducting (I have backing plates that attach to knuckle)
Hardwire AMB Transponder
Longacre (OP / WTemp) gauge panel and ignition switch / push start panel with aux switch (likely for hard wired radiator fan)
Vinyl Stickers (need to register #)
Re:Shopping List - Where Buy Parts / Equipment Posted by jaje - 14 Jan 2009 23:24
How do I register for a 944 Spec racing #? Should I contact Linda to do this? I can't use 42 as it is taken.
I also need some Toyo stickers in black for my spec car. I called their number and asked but didn't get any response or the stickers. I did same with Hawk and got them quickly.
Re:Shopping List - Where Buy Parts / Equipment Posted by Sterling Doc - 15 Jan 2009 01:24
Joel,
Email lynda Royce

This e-mail address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it

944-SPEC - 944SPEC - low cost wheel to wheel racing

Generated: 3 November, 2025, 19:23

I emailed Lynda and you are now looking at the new #74 944 Spec car!