had my head resurfaced (shaved) according to the rules. What is the best head gasket to use? Is tandard Victor Reinz ok or do I need one with a different thickness?	the

What is the head thickness as measured from the factory reference block? Then read the 944 specules, section 11.5.2, I think. Given your engine specifics, that should answer your question.

nless you shaved your head a lot, and are pushing the limits hard, stay with the standard head gas	ket.

he head is only mildly shaved so sounds like the standard headgasket should work fine.
