

What track configs are we running?

Posted by Weston - 25 May 2008 07:02

---

I remember hearing something like we'd be running the outer course one day and the full course the other day, but I can't find the post.

Which track configuration are we running on each day?

I've never been to Miller before, and I probably wont be able to drive on Friday, so I need to know what the plan is so that I can prepare myself as much as possible...

=====

Re:What track configs are we running?

Posted by SvoChuck - 25 May 2008 07:51

---

I'm thinking Friday will be half tracks and maybe a full and outter session...

Saturday I think is outter and Sunday is FULL !

bottom line is I think all of this is up in the air till next week.

=====

Re:What track configs are we running?

Posted by joepaluch - 26 May 2008 04:09

---

I would like to see full course on 3 days. Of course I am not certain of what is going in the back ground that may drive that.

=====

Re:What track configs are we running?

Posted by AvantAddict - 26 May 2008 05:06

---

I believe the plan is to run the full track on Friday and Sunday and the outer track on Saturday, at least that is what is being discussed for HPDE 1/2.

=====
Re:What track configs are we running?

Posted by Weston - 26 May 2008 06:00

---

AvantAddict wrote:

I believe the plan is to run the full track on Friday and Sunday and the outer track on Saturday, at least that is what is being discussed for HPDE 1/2.

I think that's a good way to go about it... I definitely wouldn't want to face all 23 turns on my first race there. With the 14 turns of the outer track, it wont be easy, but there's at least some hope that I can get familiar with it in a day, and then hopefully the full track wont be quite so overwhelming to deal with on the following day.

=====
Re:What track configs are we running?

Posted by SvoChuck - 26 May 2008 07:52

---

My vote is for full all of the time ... but the outter seems like fun also . the high power cars want to run the outter and that will be AWESOME to watch !

Friday might have some east / west time so that cars get more track time ???

I will ask Dave .