

Head & Neck stuff

What is everyone getting?

CDOC only carries the $$$$ HANS stuff, and I found I/O Port has both HANS, Hutchens and the R3 Rage. It looks like the R3 Rage is the least expensive choice. Blah... still not happy about being forced into buying $700-1200 worth of Carbon Fiber and Straps.

Another NASA sponsor to consider is Apex Performance. They offer a 10% discount to all NASA racers, which would be at least $70 off of a HANS, depending on what model you get.

Also, +1 to what Chuck said about the sliding tethers. Not only do they work extremely well, but they're much cheaper to buy with the device ($15) than to buy them later and add-on ($75).

CJ - the 20 degree model is the one to get. I would think that the 10 would be way too upright in any kind of sportscar.
