

lifter question

Posted by matthewc313 - 12 May 2014 15:03

I'm sure you guys have been asked about this a million times but I read too many answers online to know what's right. I had a lifter tick so I pulled them all out and put them in degreaser. I bought another used set and did the same thing with them. now I have seven that are rock hard and the rest can be pushed in. this is while they're still in the degreaser. so my question now is which ones are good or what do I do next to find out? thank you in advance for the help.

=====

Re: lifter question

Posted by rd7839 - 20 Aug 2014 09:30

Hey Zeca,

i saw you had a 968 for sale a few months back on another sight, do you still have it by any chance? If so shoot me an email.

Thanks

Ron

This e-mail address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it

=====