

Muff question

Posted by rd7839 - 02 Nov 2010 15:26

It's time to get rid of the factory muffler and was wondering what the best solution is, power and sound wise, plus cost. My car is 60lbs over weight so I can lose a few.

The only place we run with tight noise restrictions is Laguna Seca but we rarely go there however I'm not sure I want just an open pipe though.

What do you guys recommend?

Thanks

Ron

Hi Ron, there is a muffler that Summit sells that is light weight and does not rob HP that Jon Milledge told me about. He did lots of testing on these and this is the best solution to make sound at Laguna and best HP.

The good news is that it is only about $30.

I will look that up next week, out of town till Sunday.

I know, only 8 years later, but Charlie, could you share the muffler that you're using?
