

PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by Timwold - 19 Jan 2013 07:14

It has been reported on Rennlist that PCA has secured a date at COA in May. There should be 7-10 SP1 cars at TWS in march and more that at COTA

=====

Re: PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by Big Dog - 22 Jan 2013 21:40

Lots of clubs are getting dates at COTA, SCCA, SVARA, PCA.

Not sure what you are referring to, Eric. Seems to be lots of events coming up there.

=====

Re: PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by Timwold - 23 Jan 2013 10:25

Jim-

COTA took a bunch of deposits and entered into several contracts and then tried to get out of all of them. In a press release they "seemed" to indicate the clubs did not have contracts or did not pay yet!! This statement was proved inaccurate and there was a fairly large backlash and COTA retreated and allowed the events to continue with the caveat it was the events which already had a contract and paid deposit.

=====

Re: PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by Tabbasco - 23 Jan 2013 10:38

My guess is after they fulfill these contracts it will end and the track will be dedicated to Ferrari/Bentley/Lamborghini clubs that will pay big bucks to do parade laps!

=====

Re: PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by AgRacer - 23 Jan 2013 18:14

Who runs SP1 rule changes and how closely do those changes follow NASA rule set changes?

=====

Re: PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by Sterling Doc - 25 Jan 2013 06:08

PCA site links to NASA rules. They don't maintain their own.

=====

Re: PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by AgRacer - 15 Mar 2013 19:43

I have my race license interview on Tuesday for PCA so this looks like a done deal for me. I already got that week end cleared off by the boss so nothing is standing in my way of registering besides the luck of being able to register.

=====